

NEW DEPARTMENT

RED CROSS DRESSMAKING SERVICE DEPARTMENT TO OPEN TUESDAY

A new department has been arranged for the Glendale Chapter of the Red Cross, which will open at the workroom on Brand boulevard next Tuesday. It will be known as "The Dressmaking Service Department" and will be under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Waite of 707 South Central avenue. Mrs. Waite is an expert and thoroughly experienced dressmaker who is no longer in business, and she has volunteered her services for the benefit of the organization. She plans to be at headquarters from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, prepared to give advice and assistance to amateur dressmakers in the manufacture of new coats or gowns or the remodeling of old ones. This may mean assistance in the fitting of a waist or the fitting and hanging of a skirt, the selection of materials to be combined with those on hand, the choice of a style with reference to the personality to be used. The cost to the amateur will depend upon the amount of assistance required. The minimum fee will be 25c, and all fees will go into the coffers of the Red Cross.

The government is asking all women to conserve materials, particularly wool fabrics because of the great need of wool for our soldiers. This admonition has inclined many women to remodel the wool garments they already have, but professional dressmakers are reluctant to undertake such tasks and the wearers too often lack the skill to make the changes themselves. This department is designed to meet this need and at the same time to provide another source of income for the local Red Cross Chapter. It is believed that many patrons will be glad to avail themselves of this opportunity for expert advice and instruction.

It is quite possible that the department may go further and enroll a corps of volunteer workers who will do darning and other repair work for busy men and women for a compensation to be donated to the chapter. Hosiery is expensive, and if reports of the new war tax bill under consideration are to be trusted, it is to be included in the list of articles from which a war revenue will be collected. The preliminary announcements stating that all hosiery costing 35c per pair and upwards will be taxed. Under these circumstances the darning of socks to lengthen their term of usefulness will be quite necessary and many single men away from home who have neither the facilities nor the skill for this form of needlework, would welcome a chance to help themselves and at the same time help the Red Cross by farming out this darning.

The pretty girls of the Service Club, who meet Wednesday evenings at Red Cross headquarters are pledged to no special form of work. Who knows but that we may yet see them busying themselves with the socks of the bachelors, who "drop around" to see them home.

FIVE GENERATIONS.

Friday Mrs. E. D. Baker of 1411 West Colorado boulevard, had the unique experience of entertaining four generations for luncheon and the afternoon. Her guest list included Mrs. Dr. Thompson Davenport, who was the great grandmother of the party. Mrs. James Tanner, the grandmother, Mrs. Perry Cooper, the mother, and Baby Helen Harriet Cooper, all of Long Beach. Mrs. Davenport is also the great great aunt of Calvin Harrison Baker, the little son of Mrs. Baker, so in reality five generations were represented at her luncheon.

PICTURE ACTOR INJURED

Taco Reiguera, a moving-picture actor with the Diando Company, was engaged in a scene with "Fatty Arbuckle" Friday and while jumping fractured one of the bones in his foot. He is now being cared for at the Glendale Sanitarium, after having received treatment from Dr. Duncan, now occupying the office of Dr. Flint, who has been called to the army.

TODD BOYS REACH FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. John Todd of 1657 West Broadway received word this morning of the safe arrival of their two sons, Ray and George Todd in France. The boys were both wagoners in Supply Company, 347th Field Artillery at Camp Lewis and embarked from Camp Mills.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair except cloudy or foggy along the coast tonight and tomorrow morning. Warm in the interior. West winds.

AMERICAN ACTIVITY

FORTY-BED HOSPITAL ERECTED IN TEN HOURS AND 38 MINUTES

The following statement is authorized by the War Department:

Under the direction of the Construction Division of the Army a 40-bed hospital ward was recently erected and ready for occupancy in 10 hours and 38 minutes. The building is an addition to the hospital establishment of General Hospital No. 10, known as the Fox Hills Clearing Hospital, at Staten Island, N. Y.

The building is a one-story frame structure, with a convalescing porch, and has in addition to the ward a diet kitchen, surgical dressing room, bath and ward officers' toilets. It is 156 feet long by 24 feet wide. The porch is 10½ feet wide and runs the length of one side of the building.

When work was begun at 7 o'clock in the morning not a posthole had been dug and no other preparations were made beyond that which is always done before work begins on a building. The four corner posts only had been set to indicate the extreme dimensions of the building. Considerable of the lumber for use on the building was on the spot, but none was cut to size, and all trimming and cutting was done while the work was in progress. Even the foundation posts had to be lined up by instruments and sawed to the proper lengths.

Promptly at 7 o'clock 130 laborers under two foremen began to dig the post holes. This work was finished in eight minutes. During the next hour 434 men, carpenters, plumbers, and electricians, were occupied on the building. As fast as the carpenters set their boards the plumbers began to set their pipes and the electricians to run their wires. During the next hour the number of workmen was increased to 450 men. Between 11 and 12 o'clock 566 men were employed. At noon the roof had been fitted. At this time the following men were working: One carpenter superintendent, 2 general carpenter foremen, 15 carpenter foremen, 307 carpenters, 6 carpenters' labor foremen, 61 laborers, 1 plumbers' superintendent, 4 plumbers' foremen, 16 plumbers, 29 plumbers' laborers, 1 electrical superintendent, 2 electrical foremen, 22 electricians, 1 steam-fitters' superintendent, 4 steam-fitters' foremen, 30 steam-fitters, 30 steam-fitters' helpers, 1 concrete foreman, 12 concrete workers, 1 cement-finishers' foreman, 4 cement finishers, 1 metal-lathers' foreman, 2 metal lathers, 1 pipe coverers' foreman, 4 pipe coverers, 4 pipe coverers' helpers, 1 sheet metal workers' foreman, and 3 sheet-metal workers. From noon to 3 o'clock more than 500 men worked on the building. At 3:30 the electricians, plumbers, sheetmetal workers and pipe coverers had finished. At 4:30 only 8 carpenters remained at work, and at 5:38 the last nail was driven.

The finished building was fully wired the lights ready to be switched on; water was running in the pipes. All the radiators had been set and hand extinguishers were hanging on the wall when the building was reported finished.

The Construction Division is prepared for similar work in all cantonments and camps should the necessity for increased hospital facilities arise.

LEO CARRILLO

Leo Carrillo, the star of Lombardi, Limited, now playing at the Mason Opera House, was the dinner guest Saturday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cook of Brand boulevard. He and Mr. Cook were boyhood chums and his wife and Mrs. Cook were schoolgirl friends. He is a fine character actor and this comedy was written especially for him by Mr. and Mrs. Hatton, the playwrights, who wrote "Up Stairs and Down," in which he appeared last year under Morosco's management. He is making a great reputation in the East and promises to be a second Warfield, according to Mr. and Mrs. Cook, who have watched his career with the greatest interest.

SMALL FIRES.

The Fire Department of Glendale has been called for two small conflagrations in the past two days. One was a grass fire soon extinguished, which took place at Park and Columbus avenue. The other call came Sunday morning about 11 o'clock from 1451 Ivy street, from a place occupied by Mr. St. Clair and owned by Jimmy Horn. The fire was in a small woodshed and from it a garage on an adjoining lot owned by Mr. Christy caught fire. Both blazes were extinguished, the loss being about $50.

FRENCH CROSS VESLE RIVER

AMERICAN ARTILLERY OPENS TERRIFIC BOMBARDMENT OF ENEMY LINES IN FISMES REGION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, August 5.—The allies have established strong bridgeheads at two points on the north bank of the Vesle. The French war office announced today that light French elements had crossed the river and had met with stiff German resistance at all points.

The reports indicate the German losses in the Fismes region have been severe, including a million and a half 70 M.M. shells.

American artillery this morning opened the most violent bombardment of the German lines in the Fismes region.

GERMAN MORALE LOW

BERLIN PAPER SAYS MARNE DEFEAT PRODUCED SCENES OF DESPERATION NEVER BEFORE WITNESSED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, August 5.—It is unofficially estimated that the German losses since the Crown Prince started his drive on the Marne are over 300,000, including 40,000 prisoners. The allied losses are far lighter.

Dispatches from Berne quoted from a German paper which said: "The Marne defeat produced scenes of desperation in Berlin. Such an outbreak of discouragement and downheartedness was never before witnessed."

Another paper quoted declared the wild rumors that the Kaiser and von Hindenburg had been assassinated and that von Hindenburg had been killed in a duel with the Crown Prince betrays a dangerous nervousness. The German government threatens to punish those circulating such rumors.

SURVIVORS OF SUNK TANKER

LAND AT NORFOLK—STEAMER O. B. JENNINGS TORPEDOED SUNDAY OFF VIRGINIA COAST

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 5.—The navy department announced today that thirty survivors of the tank steamer O. B. Jennings had reached Norfolk. The Jennings was torpedoed Sunday a hundred miles off the Virginia coast. The captain and thirteen men are missing. The vessel belonged to the Standard Oil company.

GERMAN RESISTANCE STIFFENS

FRENCH PATROLS FIND INDICATIONS OF LARGE ENEMY FORCES ALONG THE VESLE RIVER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, August 5.—At 2:30 this afternoon the German resistance was growing stiffer along the Vesle river.

French patrols reported finding indications of a large German force along the river.

The Germans were driven from Muizon, five miles west of Rheims, after a hot fight. The allies then threw heavy forces across the river. North of the Vesle the Germans blew up LaGrange farm.

MEASURE CHANGING DRAFT AGES INTRODUCED

CROWDER WARNS CONGRESS THAT NEW REGISTRATION MUST BE AS EARLY AS SEPTEMBER 5

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 5.—The bill making the draft ages 18 to 45 was introduced in the House and Senate today. The House referred the measure to the Military committee.

After the bill was introduced Provost Marshal General Crowder warned Congress that the registration of men brought under the draft by the new bill must be held September 5 if the October, November and December calls are to be met without using Class 2 men.

Congressional leaders started plans for speeding up action on the bill.

UNDER FIVE FLAGS

DR. HALLOCK GIVES ILLUSTRATED LECTURE AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

An excellent audience assembled at the First Methodist Church Sunday evening for the service and illustrated lecture by Dr. E. Harvey Hallock of Boston on "Over the Top Under Five Flags." A feature of the musical program was the duet by Dr. Ralph Lusby and his sister, Margaret. Now that the doctor has been accepted for army service there will not be many more opportunities to hear him.

Dr. Hallock took as his text the passage of Scripture beginning: "Let not your heart be troubled. Ye believe in God, believe also in me." He declared if the world in these troubled times will take these words to heart and believe in God and Jesus Christ it will help to win the war and all the help we need for in this promise we shall find all things.

He spoke of standing before the equestrian statue of the great Belgian Crusader, Godfrey Villons, and in imagination saw the army he led march to the walls of Jerusalem and rescue the Savior's tomb. When grateful inhabitants asked him to become their King, he said: "I could never wear a crown of gold in the place where my savior wore a crown of thorns. The only title I desire is that of 'Defenders of the Tomb of Christ.'" "That great Christian Belgian soldier," declared Dr. Hallock, "is only one of the long line of heroes who have made their homes among the heroic people of Belgium. He quoted what Caesar said in his commentaries of the people who made up the three divisions into which all Gaul was divided, that the Belgians were the bravest of all. He quoted the address to his troops made by King Albert of Belgium when he led his army against the Hun of our day exhorting them to emulate the example of their forefathers and maintain their honor, and described the heroic and sacrificial stand made by that army which saved Paris, saved London, saved Europe and saved the United States, making possible the sure victory which is to come to the Allies.

The pictures included the statue referred to in the public square of Brussels, the flags of all the allies, the portrait of Lord Kitchener—in that connection making the statement that practically every man in the army commanded by Lord Kitchener in 1914 was now dead—picture of the bomb-shattered buildings in which Mrs. Ford, author of "Keep the Home Fires Burning" lost her life, portrait of General Joffre, portrait of General Petain, several portraits of President Wilson, and of General Pershing, pictures of Venice and of St. Mark's Cathedral, which has been covered with sandbags and camouflaged to protect it from aerial bombs, views of Paris, from Notre Dame before which all the inhabitants gathered to pray for deliverance as the German armies drew near the capital, pictures of the engineering unit which threw aside their tools and saved the line, pictures of the trenches and other war scenes ending with a pledge of loyalty to which he asked his audience to subscribe.

GOES TO BETTER POSITION

Miss Winifred Sadler, who has been an employee of the Public Service Department in this city for the past seven years, has accepted a better offer from some capitalists, who are operating a chain of banks, and will leave Tuesday for new work in a bank in Fillmore. This is the fifth employee recently lost to the Public Service Department. Miss Sadler will later be joined by her mother. Mrs. Sadler will remain here however until after the garment quota assigned the local Red Cross is finished. She is now chairman of the hospital garments department and will have charge of the big drive for the manufacture of pajamas and children's skirts and dresses. The chapter is now awaiting the shipment of materials.

Mrs. Sadler has leased her home at 1454 West Seventh street and will make her home for the present with her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Young on Milford street.

BOY IN McPHERSON HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McPherson, who reside at the junction of Chestnut and Louise streets, this city, are rejoicing over the advent of a fine, lusty, brown-haired boy, who arrived this Monday morning, August 5th, 1918. He is their first child and was born at the Angelus Hospital, in Los Angeles. Mother and child are doing well.

A YELLOW STREAK

WHEN THE BOYS COME HOME THEY WILL DEAL WITH SLACKERS

Glendale, Cal., Aug. 3rd, 1918.

Editor Glendale News:

In many respects Glendale has proven to be very patriotic, and has furnished a large number of enlisted men—the best we had to give. But horrors! There are many able-bodied men among us who are slackers and shirkers of the yellowest type—some are a little under the draft age—some are a little over it, while others are of the draft age, but have imposed on the Exemption Board and are evading the service—the last type of slacker knows that the records, affidavits, etc., are not for the general public, and some of them have not hesitated to use this advantage to deceive the board and it seems the board haven't the authority to question these statements unless someone outside accidentally learns of exemptions thus secured by false claims and makes a protest and, as the case reopened, which the boards are always ready to do. If they are able to take their place in the fighting forces and do not because they are not driven to it, they not only leave a broad streak of yellow down their backs, but are lacking in real red blood in their veins.

Some say, "I am waiting for the call," "I will not put myself up to be shot at until I have to"—others have made weak efforts to find a comfortable "berth" in this or that branch and having failed, consider they have done their duty. Of course, all men not in the service are not slackers, but if the real slackers could only realize the feeling of those who have sons in the service, the feeling of contempt in which they are held, and the "tag" which has been placed on them, surely they would be aroused to their duty.

This feeling is not only in the hearts and souls of those of us who have sons in the service, especially those whose sons volunteered, but it is in the hearts of the boys themselves. It is but natural and I know it to be a fact. Before leaving for "over there" they were too big and broad to give public expression of their contempt, but I know it was there—not in a spirit of regretting their own enlistment in any way, no, not by any means, but these boys of ours look upon and know the slacker and know him to be "yellow." I know a patriotic choir director, who recently refused to allow his singers to sing "Over There," and stated to the entire audience that some of the singers were slackers and it would be "mockery" to allow these "husky bucks" to thus insult the brave young men who have rallied to the colors and are now doing their duty. Several young ladies have recently told me they will not be seen in company with a slacker—that the sight of one is repulsive to them.

How will it be when these boys come marching home, fully developed men in body, mind and character, all aglow with the fire of victory in their eyes, as well as the sad memory of their brave comrades who fell fighting and are now resting in France beneath the sod made crimson by their own life's blood?

These boys whose hearts and souls have been scarred, who went down into an inferno as pitiless almost as hell itself and up out again—all this in order that the world might be free—how will they feel toward the slacker, who behind some dimsy excuse, remained at home in affluence, while they suffered? Knowing, as I do how it feels, how many of them are suffering and will continue to suffer and sacrifice, and knowing that many of them will come back with their views, ideas and minds broadened and developed in a way that only such terrible yet glorious experiences, only a vision of the great handiwork of God himself can give and reveal to men, whose souls have been singed by the fires of hell while they suffered in the trenches, I can unhesitatingly say, "God help the slacker" when our boys come back. They will "have their number," each one of them, and it will be their lot to be looked down upon and treated with that contempt, which only a hero can know so well how to give—not to be treated as a man by that band of victorious men when they return is a fate, which if I knew was in store for me, I should feel like calling upon the hills to fall upon me and hide me, like calling upon God to remove me rather than face that army of heroes.

It is to be regretted that some of the parents and other relatives have done all they could to put a nice, bright coat of yellow on their sons, brothers, husbands. They too are affected.

OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

Mr. Flowers.

The bankers of Monrovia say he is all right, the ministers of Monrovia say he is all right, and the biggest men in the Nation say Montaville Flowers is all right, and that is what thousands of voters will say at the primary election August 27.

While our country is engaged in war is no time for paying political debts by pushing forward men who are not capable of representing this district. Other candidates are good citizens, but they are lacking in force and real talent.

Inquire as to the record of Montaville Folwers as a real, true, patriotic, red-blooded citizen, capable of doing things, and then vote for him at the primary election.

THIRTY YEARS A KAISER

June 15, 1888, thirty years ago, the present Kaiser ascended the throne of his ancestors—that is, so far as the Brandenburg and Prussian portion is concerned. The imperial distinction was then only of seventeen years' standing.

The kaiser succeeded to a fine property, so far as size is concerned. The empire had been widened considerably. It is a pity if the theft of the half of Denmark and the seizure of Hanover are overlooked when the day of final reckoning comes along.

Thirty years have brought a complete change in the methods of German education. The education bill of 1890 effectually shackled the German people and put the present generation into leading strings.

One way and another a glance at the three decades is illuminating. In 1890 Helgoland became a part of the German empire. In 1892 William was busy lecturing his more or less faithful Brandenburgers on the duty of not grumbling at his wishes. March 3, 1892, several newspapers were confiscated in Berlin for daring to quote what the London Times said of the emperor's speech.

The foundation was laid. The German state became a secret society a year after the death of the old emperor. The advantage of the Junkers was the highest goal. Every power in the state was worked for the benefit of the dishonest and corrupt camarilla in Berlin—see the Eulenberg and Liebenberg Castle revelations of ten years since.

June 15 is a day of promise. William's inheritance was in a fairly flourishing condition when he took it over in 1888. He has brought the property to—well, those whose business it will be to look into the balance sheet can be left to do the work.—London Answers.

TAXING LUXURIES

The taxes proposed by the Treasury department may not be adopted in detail, but they indicate the lines on which next year's tax law doubtless will be drawn. Luxury taxes are to supplement income taxes.

This is a right principle. Two families may have the same income. One may be living very simply, thus releasing for the war work labor that might be employed in providing luxuries. The other may be living on an elaborate scale, drawing heavily on labor. An income tax would hit both families alike. Obviously the family consuming the luxuries ought to contribute more than the other to the support of the government. Also, the tax on luxuries will discourage their use and thus will automatically release labor to the more important occupations.

The taxes proposed will be a heavy burden. That is inevitable. Americans have not felt the pinch of war. There is hardly a family that is not now living in its accustomed way. But as war expenses mount the nation must expect to make financial sacrifices, as well as the supreme sacrifice of sending its young men.

The proposed law will test the nation's earnestness and the depth of its patriotism. There will be no failure under the test. America has put its hand to the plow. It will be cheerfully borne so long as it contributes to the success of the cause the country has at heart.

STUDY TELEPHONE POLES

In the good old times, people in the rural districts of the United States West, who visited the county seat on Saturdays, usually started out by climbing the court-house steps and reading the sheriff's notices for the latest news. Even in the remotest districts now, a great deal of information of a miscellaneous character may be picked up in another way, and almost at any crossroads. "Unless we study the telephone poles," says the Tulsa (Okla.) Democrat, "we are likely to forget that there is a political campaign in this State for the nomination of a Governor and other officers." It will be interesting to see whether Postmaster-General Burleson will discourage or develop this news service under the government wire-control system.—C. S. Monitor.

BOMBARD PARIS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, August 5.—The Germans today resumed the long range bombardment of Paris.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Despite the intense heat of last Friday, the pleasant parlors of Mrs. P. E. Keim, 1442 West Second street, were filled with friends and members of the city W. C. T. U. in their regular meeting. Devotional exercises were led by the hostess, who read for Scripture lesson the last part of Exodus, eighteenth chapter, the choosing of able men for rulers. Good advice for these times.

After the usual salute Mrs. Lemon, chairman of the dry amendment committee, gave her final report which showed that from latest news gotten that day, the bone-dry initiatory amendment petition had been signed by over 123,000 persons, assuring its place on the ballot; also that about 1200 of these signatures were from Glendale. (The same number was sent from San Francisco, with its own significance.) The report was received with cheers and enthusiasm. The president remarked that this was a distinct victory for the cause of right, obtained by the people when the churches were closed to the movement by the direction of the anti-saloon leaders. Glendale W.C.T.U. is gratified in being in the winning side, while standing for their own principles. Much interest was manifested in the program as announced, on ratification and political candidates.

The president briefly reminded the meetings that the Women's Christian Temperance Union is a non-sectarian and non-partisan organization working on an anti-partisan basis, never endorsing candidates for office and that she could not entertain any motion to that effect; that the purpose of this consideration of candidates was to learn who are the friends of the cause for which we contend, the abolition of the liquor traffic, or in common parlance, who are thoroughly "dry" in their attitude, toward the liquor traffic. She stated that at the Fresno convention last February, which decided to marshal the temperance forces for the ratification of the Federal amendment for prohibition, there was a ratification committee of twenty appointed; ten from northern and ten from Southern California, who should investigate the record and declarations of all candidates. The president of the committee is A. J. Wallace and secretary, D. M. Gandier. She exhibited a long list, a newspaper column and half, of candidate's names, who have passed the censor and been endorsed by said committee. Said we would only consider those of our own district, or relating to the general welfare.

Further, stated that, contrary to the false rumor that there would be no prohibition ticket in the field therefore prohibitionists, if so registered, could not vote at the primaries for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, that there is a prohibition ticket already in the field. On request the list of candidates on this ticket was read by Mrs. Mottern. The names heading this list, are, William D. Stephens for Governor; C. C. Young, Lieutenant-Governor, who were endorsed by the Prohibition party in their state convention. According to the above mentioned committee these are the only candidates for these offices who have declared in favor of ratification, and the committee recommends them for election. Their platforms and declarations were read by Mrs. Palmer.

For Congress, in the Ninth District, there claims to be three dry candidates, viz: Messrs. Randall, Odell and Flowers.

Our Sixty-first Assembly District presents, as the chairman stated it, an embarrassment of candidates; five, four from Glendale, and all "Dry." According to American chivalry, "ladies first," the name of Dr. Jessie A. Russell appears first on the list. She was represented by Mrs. Katherine Rowe of Orange street, who read her platform and literature outlining

ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKE

The correspondence of the Exemption Board contains some very interesting specimens of "English as she spoke" by some of the aliens on its list. The following letters are examples which can be published without violating the confidence of the writers who are far away from this locality at the present time.

"Dear Sir:
 "Knowing of duty have all the time to ask you about my registration card and I would like to know all the news of me because my address is not always in the place, but moving around so if there is something to say about calling, I'm on the road for B. F. Circuit."

A second missive reads:

"Dear Sir:
 "Asking you kindly to look up for examination paper Class A No. 1 at June 5, 1917, I am willing to go to the color any time. Please kindly look for examination paper. My name is—Hawaii. I am well how to go to color. I am in—county I receive one mail to local examination board. Please notify sheriff of this county in whose custody I am charged with raising the check, the full particulars."

NEWS OF THE BALLANTYNE FAMILY

A week ago Mrs. Ballantyne had the pleasure of a brief visit with Dr. McGee, a surgeon in the army and captain in the 181st Artillery, stationed at Palo Alto. Mrs. McGee was a teacher in the Glendale schools before her marriage and she and the doctor are well known here. When he is called overseas, which he expects will be soon, Mrs. McGee and her mother, Mrs. A. R. Ballantyne of 320 Glendale avenue, and the two McGee boys, Thomas and Byron, will go to North Carolina where they plan to spend a year with Mrs. McGee's sister.

Preliminary plans are being made for a big Red Cross benefit to be given under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon Club. As yet the place has not yet been selected, but the committee is negotiating for a will be very accessible. It will probably not be put on until the latter central location which if secured part of September, say from the 18th to the 20th, and will be featured as a Harvest Festival to celebrate our big crop of ripened grain. It will be given two evenings and will include all kinds of entertaining specialties, a real joyfest which no one will willingly miss and which will bring a stream of money to the Red Cross. The announcement is made now as a warning to all who are planning entertainments that this big attraction must be reckoned with at the period named.

THE DEAR OLD FLAG

Flag of my country, I would give
 My life if that need be,
 In your defense, so you may live
 For others after me.
 Those stars each represent a state
 Those stripes the first thirteen.
 'Tis thrilling just to contemplate
 How much they yet shall mean.
 I saw the boys of sixty-five
 Return with peace assured.
 They fought that freedom might survive
 And liberty secured.
 I saw the tattered flag they bore
 Was saved, and yet to be
 The flag that floats from shore to shore
 And honored o'er the sea.
 In foreign countries I have dwelt
 And longed to see the flag.
 So homesick at its absence felt
 Disposed at times to brag.
 The stars and stripes looked good to me
 When I was homeward bound.
 Forever more I wish to be
 Where freedoms flag is found.
 Can we not make some sacrifice
 Or luxuries forego?
 True patriotism must suffice
 To satisfaction show.
 Inheritance our fathers gave
 To us, we soon shall see—
 Thruout the world, across the wave
 A blest Democracy.
 GEORGE WATROUS.

 so "tagged" though they may not realize it just now.

Let us stop to consider that the millions of American men who come back won't be the same boys who went away. In some ways we will recognize our sons, brothers, husbands, etc., but the new minds, souls, ideas and world views we shall not recognize. They will bring to us new ideas of God, of morality, of consideration of one state to another—of one section to another, of one country to another—an entirely new conception of man's duty to man and to the world. They will grasp this knowledge from visions coming through trying ordeals of suffering in the trenches.

When these newborn Americans return and scatter to their various homes they will not rest on their labors, but will begin again in a new way, will make this a new country—a decent place to live in—and not only will we have a new country here in America, but there will be a better France—a better England—a better world. How glorious it will be to be one of that number of heroes!
 J. N. MCGILLIS.

NOTICE TO VOTERS

Editor Evening News: I wish to correct a misstatement that has been circulated regarding my candidacy for nomination for member of Assembly. I am the regular Prohibition candidate, and have been endorsed by my friends as candidate on both the Republican and Democratic tickets at the primaries. So that anyone wishing to do so may vote for me if they are registered in any one of these three parties, at the primaries. I also wish to state that I have been a resident of Glendale for four years, and of Southern California, for nearly seven years.

"YANKEE BOY"

Mrs. Morris Cook of Brand boulevard, who is the author of "Yankee Boy We're All for You" and other war songs, reports that this latest of her productions is going finely. She introduced it herself in the Schuman-Florence Theater in Pasadena last week, where she sang at all the performances on the day when a new film, never before shown, was on the boards entitled "To Hell With the Kaiser," and where it met with a very good reception. It is to be sung next week at the Miller Theater in Los Angeles at the showing of a new Farnum picture, when a young singer will traverse the aisles singing the catchy melody, and this week it will be in the repertoire of many of the beach bands.

PATRIOTIC CHILDREN

Genevieve Burr, aged ten years and Martha Jones, aged eight, planned an entertainment for the nearby neighbors in the pretty back yard of Mrs. R. D. Jones, 908 Dryden street, last Thursday afternoon, with an admission charge of one penny. These little girls managed the whole affair only asking a donation of peanuts and candy to be sold to bring in more pennies. The program they planned was very entertaining, Martha Jones reciting some of her original poems which were very clever. Genevieve Burr gave some of her favorite selections from James Whitcomb Riley. There was Egyptian and Indian dancing and tricks on the gymnasium bar. The affair was given for the Junior Red Cross and netted $2.40 which will be turned over to the organization.

TO STUDY PARLIAMENTARY LAW

With efficiency as the keynote for the year's work, a group of P.-T. A. members is forming a class in parliamentary usage under the able instruction of Mrs. P. S. McNutt.

The course will consist of ten lessons, beginning Wednesday morning August 7, 1918, from 10 to 11:30 in the library of the Intermediate School.

Realizing the immense value of time in the present crisis, it is their desire to conduct the affairs of their organizations as quickly and effectively as possible and an understanding of parliamentary law is most necessary for this purpose. This class is not confined to P.-T. A. circles, but any one interested will be welcomed to join. Details may be obtained by phoning Mrs. A. A. Barton, Glendale 1098.

ing her record and position on many questions. This was supplemented by remarks from Mrs. Anna Gard, who strongly recommended Dr. Russell. John Robert White was represented by Mrs. White, who after reading her declaration and card said, having lived with him for many years, she thought she was competent to speak for him, as being a fine man who would fill the bill. A. G. Lindley's card, literature and large picture were presented by Mrs. Louise Morton. His mother who was present and called on, said she thought so much of him, she could not begin to express all the fine things she felt, but she knew he was competent to fill the place. Echoes of all their various sentiments of each were heard from others. Messrs. McNutt and Final had no representative present. The dry sheriff was found to be James A. Walton, ex-Presbyterian minister, endorsed by Mr. Gandier and Detective Ben Brown, endorsed by Will D. Gould, who says he is bone-dry, and all right. The card of D. J. Hibben of Glendale was presented as a "dry" candidate for Justice of the Peace. Time didn't allow a discussion of judges. They will be taken up at some future time. The meeting passed off pleasantly and kindly. Not a disagreeable feature marred the occasion. The annual picnic is slated for August 30th, at Echo Park. Save the date. The next meeting will be held at 119 East Broadway, Mrs. Flora Lemon, vice-president, and hostess, on August 16th.

OCCIDENTAL FARMERETTES ARE O. K.

Some vile creature, doubtless a Hun sympathizer, started a report that the Occidental girls were not a success as farmerettes. Here is what their employer, Mr. Chas. F. Shubert of Elsinore, Cal., says of them: "It has come to my ears that a report is being circulated that I am very much dissatisfied with the farmerettes who are helping to harvest my apricot crop, and in justification to the girls of the Occidental unit, to myself, and to try to offer a rebuke to a few knockers whose tongues seem to run to such talk, I wish to say that the report is absolutely false. I have the best orchard crew that has ever been in my orchard or any other orchard. For the girls who are doing the pitting I can say that they are doing the work as well as any pitters in any shed in the valley. They are new to the work and cannot do as much in a day as experienced pitters, but they are doing a little more each day and are keeping up with the fruit as it ripens. Instead of being dissatisfied, I am so pleased that I hope to be able to have the entire unit again next season."—Eagle Rock Sentinel.

CITIZENSHIP OF AMERICAN BORN

A man who was born in this country, though of German parents is a natural-born citizen of the United States. (United States Constitution, fourteenth amendment.) Such person had a double allegiance by birth, but his permanent residence in the United States after attaining his majority indicates an election of United States citizenship. Thus, the American view is that he was an American citizen originally and that he has now no other citizenship (3 Moore's Dig. Int. Law, 532-539). Furthermore, it is probable that his residence in this country for 10 years prior to January 1, 1914, resulted in a loss of German citizenship according to the German view. (North German law of June 1, 1870, sec. 21; German imperial citizenship law of July 22, 1913, sec. 31.)

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

In preparation for the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign expected to be waged from September 28 to October 19 the organization in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District has been completed. Governor James K. Lynch of this federal district has announced the list of state chairmen who have formally accepted their appointments.

Following are the state chairmen: H. J. McClung, Phoenix, Arizona; Charles R. Blyth, San Francisco, Northern California; Henry S. McKee, Los Angeles, Southern California; Montie B. Gwinn, Boise, Idaho; G. H. Taylor, Reno, Nevada; Edward Cookingham, Portland, Oregon; Heber J. Grant, Salt Lake City, Utah; Joseph A. Swallow, Seattle, Washington; L. Tenney Peck, Honolulu, Hawaii.

John A. McGregor will be chairman of the San Francisco Patriotic Liberty Loan Committee of One Thousand.

No official announcement of the Fourth Loan has been made.

E. W. Wilson, director of Sales of United States Certificates of Indebtedness for this Federal Reserve District believes that the third allotment of $36,000,000 offered on July 23 will be oversubscribed sufficiently to make up the deficit of the first two allotments. Although the nation oversubscribed these certificates this district is now $19,000,000 behind its quota.

Our idea of a perverted sense of prominence is that displayed by the fellow who clamors for a chance to represent the Kaiser in an American patriotic parade.

STRINGENT SUGAR REGULATIONS

SAN FRANCISCO — Stringent rules and regulations, as well as a system of checking all purchases of sugar, have been inaugurated by the United States Food Administration for California as a result of the big cut in the state's sugar allotment for August.

Beginning August 1st maximum allowance of sugar for household purposes is cut from three to two pounds per person per month and each public eating-house will be allowed only two pounds of sugar for every ninety meals served.

California's allotment of sugar for August is approximately seven millions pounds less than the quantity provided for July and in order to make up this deficit it will be necessary for every person to rigidly conserve sugar. The entire burden has not been thrown upon the individual consumer, however, but the manufacturers of candy and sweets have had a great cut made in their allotment. All of this class of business is now allowed not in excess of one-half of the quantity of sugar used in 1917.

Many complaints have been received by the Food Administration that people are buying quantities of sugar ostensibly for canning purposes, and then diverting it to table use. Because of these reports a checking system of all purchases, both for household and canning purposes has been inaugurated. Every grocer in the state is now compelled to keep a loose leaf record of the names and addresses of purchasers of sugar for all purposes and to mail these reports once a week to the local Food Administrator. These will be carefully compared and checked and where it is found that any person has exceeded his or her allowance they will be rigidly prosecuted.

All sugar purchased for canning is also being checked and a force of inspectors is now at work in San Francisco, going from house to house, and checking the quantity purchased with the amount of fruits preserved. If it is found that this sugar has been diverted to table or other use and that there cannot be produced sufficient preserved fruit to justify the amount of sugar used, then the purchaser will be vigorously prosecuted. Several violators have already been detected and will be tried shortly. This system of checking is now being extended throughout the state.

While the public eating-houses which voluntarily went on a wheatless basis have been released from further observance of the non-wheat rule, it does not mean that all restrictions on the use of wheat and wheat products have been abolished.

"When the great crisis became acute," said acting Federal Food Commissioner Frederick O'Brien, "thousands of hotels, restaurants and private homes voluntarily signed a pledge in which they agreed to do entirely without wheat during the present crisis. These patriotic people banished everything made of wheat or wheat products from their homes and went on a no-wheat basis."

"When it was seen that because of the immense crop of wheat and other cereals the wheat restrictions could be slightly relaxed, Herbert Hoover naturally released those who had pledged the most from their obligations."

"Until there are further announcements the people are expected to continue to conform to the household rules which allow six pounds of wheat flour and wheat products per person per month. There is also no let up in the service of wheat and wheat products in restaurants. The piling up of the great surplus necessary to insure the Allies and America sufficient quantities to take care of any unforeseen crisis, makes it imperative that other checks on unlimited wheat consumption be continued."

Wheat is still short and sugar is shorter, but nobody is worried—these hammer blows only harden American mettle.

Intelligent co-operation, alert to meet every emergency, and Victory is ours.

JUDGE HOUSER A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Judge Frederick W. Houser, of the Superior Court, is a candidate for re-election. He is now serving his second term as judge of this county, and has twice represented his district in the State Legislature. He is a resident of Alhambra, and the Alhambra Advocate recently had the following to say regarding his candidacy:

"Judge Houser is one of our most highly esteemed citizens and one whom it will be a pleasure for the voters of the city to support. His record is a matter of pride to his many friends, and justly entitles him to the support of all fair-minded, justice-loving citizens. It is to be hoped that he may be endorsed unanimously by all classes of voters of the community."—Advertisement.

Ten counties of Southern California have been named as sub-region No. 4 of the Nineteenth Region of the resources and conversion section of the War Industries Board, according to advices received today from Charles A. Otis, chief of section of resources and conversion of the War Industries Board.

Sylvester L. Weaver, chairman of the Industrial Trade Extension Bureau of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed chief of this section, headquarters of which will be located in the Chamber of Commerce, Los Angeles.

The resources and conversion section of the board has been created to meet the constantly increasing demands of the government for new resources and to supply the war needs of the army and navy and other government departments.

The primary object of this new section is to assemble as quickly as possible complete and detailed information concerning industries in all parts of the country. The special knowledge required is to ascertain those not now engaged in war work, but capable of undertaking such work; concerning industries partly employed in war work, but able to increase and produce necessary war materials and industries now employed in war work whose contracts will soon be completed.

To accomplish this most efficiently, the country has been divided into regions which are organized thoroughly under the leadership and with the co-operation of the local chambers of commerce and other business men's organizations. All classes of industry are wanted to enlist and it is imperative that all industries of a given region shall participate—whether they are now members of business organizations or not.

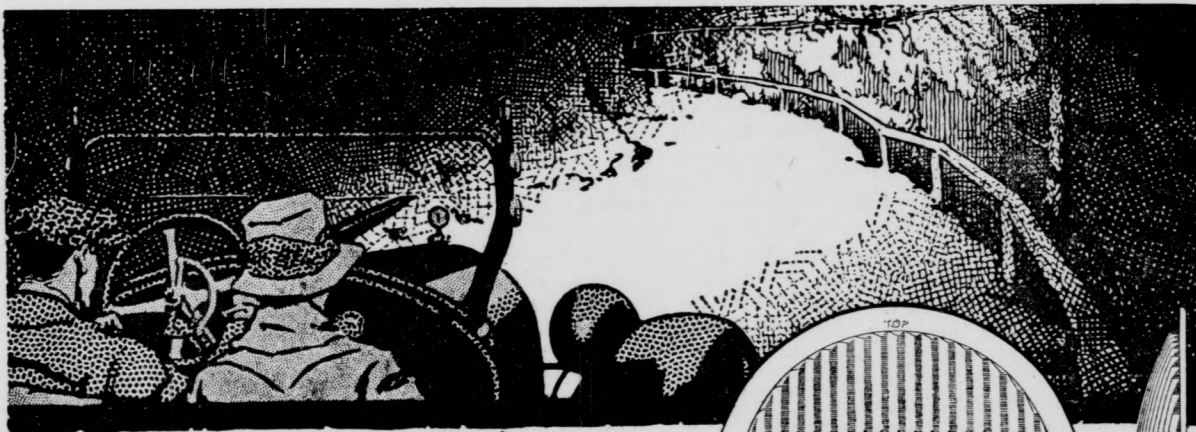

It is expected that Mr. Weaver will call a conference in Los Angeles at an early date and that the local commercial organization will be asked to send representatives prepared with complete data of their respective districts.

The War Industries Board is recognized as one of the most important branches of the government and one which demands the co-operation of every individual or firm engaged in producing.

The counties in Sub-region No. 4 include Mono, Inyo, Ventura, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial.

Warns You In Plenty of Time

Far ahead of you goes the intensely bright road-beam of the McKee Standard Lens. Every obstruction, every irregularity, every danger-point in the full width of the road is shown up clearly. At 300 feet you can read a newspaper held at your knees. At 600 feet the light still searches the road.

The McKee is legal—no blinding light goes above the 42-inch dead-line. All the light goes through the crystal-clear glass down to the road and out to the sides—where you need it. Why risk your life with makeshift devices that must weaken the light in order to comply with the law? Use the safe McKee.

If your dealer cannot supply you, send price, size of lens, model of car direct to us.

McKee Standard LENS

Made by McKEE GLASS COMPANY, Jeannette, Pa.

Distinctive In Appearance

The McKee is free from disfiguring accessories. In the daytime it presents a neat combination of vertical and horizontal prisms of crystal-clear glass. "The cut-glass lens," some users term it, because of its brilliancy.

Night comes, and those prisms get to work with scientific accuracy. The vertical prisms stop 63% of the light (that is wasted by window glass lens) and send it back to the parabolic reflector. Here it is added to the road beam which is held down to the road by the horizontal prisms. The exclusive concave-convex shape gives a bright side light, necessary to safety in passing cars and turning corners.
